Magna Melodia

Music from the time of Magna Carta

All the music in this programme is from the century or so around the time of Magna Carta, and includes works by Bernart de Ventadorn and Richard 'the Lionheart' himself, as well as many anonymous pieces. It's a musical journey with lute, harp, symphony, whistle and much else from France to the Mediterranean and back to England, exploring the wide extent of the Angevin world.

Interested in our society?

Now in its twentieth season, Burnley and Pendle Music Society was founded in 1996 with the object of bringing professional classical artists to perform in local venues. We feature young performers who have already established an impressive reputation at home and abroad. Most of them have played in prestigious London venues such as the Wigmore Hall and Purcell Room, many have been heard on BBC Radio 3 and have appeared on commercial CDs.

You don't need to be a member in order to enjoy our concerts; you can simply turn up on the day and pay for a ticket at the door. Tickets cost £10, including a programme and light refreshments, with a special concessionary rate of £1 for children and full-time students aged 18 or under. There's a decided financial advantage in joining the Society because the subscription of £30 gives you entry to all the season's events — four for the price of three. It costs nothing simply to place your name on our mailing list. You will then receive notice of each forthcoming concert either by letter or email. (If you tell us your email address we will assume you are happy to receive the information by that means.) Complete and cut out the form below and send it to the treasurer at the address shown.
